Golf games for the majority of the time come in two shapes and sizes. There is the highly successful Tiger Woods franchise and then there is Everybody's Golf. Everybody's Golf World Tour is the latest title in this franchise and the first to be made specifically for the PS3. For experienced players of the game the old system of the one key power bar shooting has been included. The game also makes clever use of the D-pad. By coupling this up with your button presses you can add a lot of power to your shot. About the only thing you cannot change is how your golfer looks which is ok because the developers as always have done a great job. There are other neat touches too that you wouldn't find in the more serious series. Things like ducklings and a caddy who can talk. Graphically this is an excellent title. As said before the characters of the caddies and the golfers are wonderful. Sound wise, the music is ok but not wonderful and the vocal acting and sound effects is spot on. Online this is an amazing game. You can play against up to eight players in a single game and fifty players in a tournament. Overall this is probably the best version of the franchise so far. It is FUN which a capitol F!!! It should appeal to everyone. Buy it!!!
